

Tom lives in a small, quiet village by the sea. Every morning, he walks slowly along the sandy beach with his old, grey dog. In the village, the houses are painted bright colors, and each house has a beautiful, flowering garden. Tom loves his peaceful life because the sea calms him and the people are friendly.

One day, Tom went to the market. At the market, under a big, white tent, he bought fresh apples from the old woman who always stands near the entrance. He carefully placed the apples in his large, green bag. Tom walked through the crowded market, past many sellers offering toys, clothes, and crafts. He stopped by a stand that sold hand-made wooden chairs, just next to the bakery.

On his way back home, Tom sat on a bench near the old bridge. He watched the boats floating by under the bridge, over the quiet water. The sun was setting behind the village, painting the sky with shades of orange and pink. As he sat there, Tom felt happy and relaxed, thinking about the simple joys of his daily life.
